TALK OF TWO ELECTIONS

The Friends of Mr. Bryan May Hold a Separate Primary.

The Boast of the Norris Crowd That They Will Control the Voting Booths Resented by the Bryan Supporters—The Action of the District Committee Denounced.

Just what is going to happen at the voting booths next Tuesday when the District Democratic Primaries are to be held for the purpose of electing delegates to the District Convention, is at present the chief topic of discussion among local politicians. Since the Bryan Democrats have been denied the right to have fair representation in the primaries it is among the possibilities that two elections will be held on the same day—Norris and anti-Norris.

At the meeting of the District Central Committee Wednesday evening James L. Norris, who controls this committee, through a special committee appointed to prepare rules and regulations governing the primaries, told the Democrats of the District that their men would take and count their votes on election day. While these exact words were not used in the report of the special Norris committee, the fact remains that those representing the Bryan voters will be allowed no watchers at the counting of the ballots or judges while they are being cast.

Since the campaign was started two weeks ago by the friends of Mr. Bryan in the District against such methods, it has been claimed that Mr. Norris has been working for months to operate his campaign without regard to the wishes of the citizens who advocate the instruction of Bryan delegates. Indeed, in an official interview he declared himself against instruction.

When, however, at a mass meeting thousands of voters demanded the pledging of delegates, Mr. Norris appreciated the strength of the movement against possible misrepresentation at Kansas City, and according to some of his followers, reluctantly ordered the Central committee to declare for the instruction of delegates. Mr. Norris has acknowledged the power of public sentiment in favor of an instructed delegate and has said that if sent under instructions, he would obey instructions; but the probabilities are that if the Norris men constitute a majority of the District Convention, no instructions will be given the delegates.

Mr. Norris gave notice to the public, at the same time expressing an opposition to instruction, that his delegates to the District Convention had already been selected in every legislative district. Of course, the men who were chosen at that time were in harmony with their chief, and were selected because of the fact that if these men should be successful at the polls and be in a majority in the District Convention no instructions will be given. Andrew A. Lipscomb, well-known Bryan man and an advocate for the instruction of delegates to the Kansas City Convention, is very bitter in his statements regarding the lightening change made by James L. Norris, who controls the District Central Committee, on the question of instruction of delegates. Mr. Lipscomb said this morning:

"The meeting of the Central Committee of the Democracy of the District of Columbia a few days ago unanimously committed itself to the Chicago platform and to the renomination of Mr. Bryan, although all the members of the committee, following their leader, had for several days previous to that insisted that it would be a reflection upon their character and judgment to be instructed either for Bryan or the Chicago platform. The Democracy of the District might be deluded by the unanimity of the Central Committee for Mr. Bryan and the Chicago platform, but it must be borne in mind that there are to be next week elected by the Democratic voters of the District of Columbia, three delegates from each of the twenty-five legislative districts in the District of Columbia, making sixty-six in all."

"Those sixty-six select the six delegates who are to go from here as representatives of the Democracy to the Kansas City Convention, and while the Central Committee, as honorable men, must be bound by their statements in favor of the Chicago platform and Mr. Bryan, the sixty-six delegates, who are not so bound, and it is very evident that those who wish to betray Bryan and true Democracy, must be considered the voice of the Central Committee to the Convention itself. "It is important that all the real Democrats of the District, and the true friends of Bryan, should see to it that not a single one of the Norris delegates should be selected anywhere as a delegate from any of the twenty-two legislative districts."

"Driven from one position, forced to declare themselves for the choice of the people and of true Democracy, against their will, they transfer the fight to the Convention itself, and that is all they have done."

"Mr. Norris aspires to the leadership of the National Democratic Committee. It must be evident to all that to put a man in the position who is in sympathy with the Whitney, Lamont and Gorman wing of the Democracy, who have recently constructed a platform for Bryan, is of the utmost importance. The Democracy of the District should repudiate at their polling places every candidate who is not above suspicion in his real Bryan devotion, no matter how softly they now cry for Bryan."

At a meeting of the District Democratic Central Committee held last night at Cestello's Hall, Sixth and G Streets northwest, the location of voting places was announced by the committee from the various districts. The locations were named as follows: Second district, Brightwood Hall; Third district, 1588 Thirtieth Street northwest; Fourth district, 3226 M Street northwest; Fifth district, 1228 Twenty-second Street northwest; Seventh district, 1410 Fourth Street northwest; Eighth district, 1512 Seventh Street northwest; Ninth district, corner Thirtieth and H Streets northwest; Tenth district, 1426 E Street northwest; Eleventh district, corner Eleventh and B Streets southwest; Twelfth district, 403 Eighth Street northwest; Thirteenth district, 801 I Street northwest; Fourteenth district, 1525 Seventh Street northwest; Fifteenth district, 433 New Jersey Avenue northwest; Sixteenth district, 476

LICENSES FOR PHARMACISTS.

A Bill Offered to Correct a Defect in the Law.

The District Commissioners are considering the bill providing for the licensing of homeopathic pharmacists in the District of Columbia. Upon the application of pharmacists of this school for licenses it was found that the laws did not permit the granting of the privilege, and the fact soon developed that the Commissioners had no discretion in the matter.

Those conducting homeopathic pharmacies are ready to comply with all the requirements of the law upon allopathic drugs, even to the depositing of a fee and submission to examination. But it has been found by the District authorities that it will be necessary to secure new legislation before the licenses can be granted.

The bill in question has the remedy of this defect in the license laws in view. It provides for the creation of a board of commissioners of homeopathic pharmacy, consisting of three members, one of whom shall be appointed by the District Commissioners. This board is to examine candidates and is entitled to a fee of $20 to pay the expense of receiving the act. The bill also provides that each person registered as a homeopathic pharmacist under the act shall be entitled to manufacture, compound, sell, and dispense drugs, medicines and chemicals for medicinal use and to compound physicians' prescriptions, but only in accordance with the principles of homeopathy and the requirements of homeopathic physicians. It is expected that the Commissioners will concur in recommending the bill to Congress for adoption, and that it will be enacted to correct an obvious defect in the license laws of the District.

HOMEOPATHISTS TO MEET.

Disciples of Hahnemann Will Hold a Conference in June.

The executive committee of the local branch of the American Institute of Homeopathy met last night at the Shoreham Hotel to consider plans for the entertainment of the delegates to the national convention of the organization which will meet in this city in June. The officers of the committee are Dr. William B. King, chairman; Dr. Randolph Jones, secretary, and Dr. L. B. Stornstrom, treasurer. Besides these there were present nearly all the other members of the executive committee.

The most interesting feature of the proceedings of the coming convention will be the dedication of the statue of Samuel Hahnemann, which will be erected on the east side of Scott Circle, Thursday, June 7, the third day of the annual meeting. Around the statue will be several tablets descriptive of many scenes of the life of Dr. Hahnemann. The convention will be opened Tuesday, June 5, and continue in daily sessions until June 8.

The past time the institute held its annual meeting in Washington was in 1892. At that time about fourteen hundred delegates and their friends visited the city. It is expected that the convention this year will be attended by nearly two thousand delegates.

Dr. King announced the following as chairman of the different subcommittees: Dedication, Dr. J. B. Gregg; Finance, Dr. F. A. Gardner; Entertainment, Dr. Z. R. Babb; Printing, Dr. Richard Kinsman; Hall and No. 10, Dr. S. S. Stearns; Hotels, Dr. C. A. Davis; Press, Dr. S. S. Stearns.

TO PROTECT SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Orders Issued to Police Lieutenants to This End.

Major Sylvester has issued an order to the various lieutenants, directing them to instruct the police of their commands, who patrol beats on which school houses are located, to endeavor to be present at such schools during the recess hours.

The object of the order is to give the school children protection from pugnacious urchins and to lessen their chances of being injured by vehicles. Complaint was recently made that vehicles are driven recklessly over the streets in which school children play. The police are instructed to see that no reckless driving is indulged in.

In another order Major Sylvester informed the police that target practice with pistols and revolvers would be resumed at the end of the present term. Both were suspended during the cold weather.

MEDALS FOR GALLANTRY

The Navy Department's Attitude Concerning Their Bestowal.

A Suggestion Whereby the Secretary May Be Authorized to Distribute to Meritorious Officers and Men of the West Indian Squadron a Proper Appreciation of Their Services.

In response to a request from the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, for information concerning the Navy Department's attitude in regard to a joint resolution, recently presented to the Senate, to provide medals for the officers and men of the North Atlantic squadron, and especially to the engagements deemed to be of sufficient importance to justify the bestowal of medals upon those who participated in them, Acting Secretary Allen has sent to Senator Hale, chairman of the Naval Committee, the draft of a joint resolution intended as a substitute for that under consideration by the committee.

In his letter to Mr. Hale, Mr. Allen says the Navy Department is in favor of the view expressed by Mr. Hale, that it is not every little affair in the West Indian campaign that would justify the giving of medals. He says, however, that the department would have difficulty in specifying at this time the particular engagements which are deserving of commendation, and invites attention to a memorandum of the Bureau of Navigation on the subject. The memorandum is as follows:

"The bureau believes that it would be exceedingly difficult to follow out the suggestion of Senator Hale, and especially in the sense indicated in the last paragraph of the within letter. The resolution as originally introduced, even with the amendment to be proposed by Senator McMillan, does not seem to follow any particular criterion of importance of engagements included. For instance, it is not clear why the capture of the island of Porto Rico are included in the resolution; none of the bombardments of Santiago are included, and many of the minor engagements are omitted. Some of the foregoing are of considerable importance, as, for instance, the engagement of San Juan, which was a decisive battle, and seven wounded on our vessel, and the engagement of Santiago, June 28, where one was killed and nine were wounded."

Furthermore, Lieut. Victor Blue and Naval Constructor R. P. Hobson might receive medals on account of their participation in some of the engagements mentioned in the resolution, but they would not be included as a result of the work in which they most distinguished themselves. Lieut. H. H. Ward and W. H. Buck, neither of whom participated in any engagement, nor served on board naval vessels, would not benefit by the resolution, and yet performed war services which should be recognized by this committee. The Department has recommended the advancement of Capt. C. D. Sigbee, both on account of his conduct at the time the resolution was introduced, and his engagement with a torpedo boat off San Juan. His services should be considered.

"The Bureau submits the foregoing without specific recommendations in the instances mentioned, because it believes it to be injudicious to make such special recommendations, and has to recommend that the resolution be so worded as to provide a campaign medal for all those who did naval or military duty in connection with the West Indian campaign, or else that it be so worded as to provide a medal for the culminating action of the campaign of the battle of Santiago July 2."

Mr. Allen says that after due consideration the Navy Department has concluded that the better method of disposing of the matter is by the adoption of a joint resolution whereby the Secretary of the Navy shall be authorized to distribute to the officers and men participating in engagements in the waters of the West Indies and on the shores of Cuba which shall be deemed of sufficient importance to merit such commendation. In reaching a decision the Secretary of the Navy says, can avail himself of the services of a board to examine all the official reports on the subject.

The draft of the substitute resolution submitted is sufficiently broad to embrace all engagements of importance as well as to reward the special services of officers rendered in the campaign. It is intended by the presentation of a bronze bar instead of a second medal to those who have participated in more than one engagement, and unnecessary duplication of medals is prevented. The resolution submitted is not intended as a substitute for the bill to carry into effect Secretary Long's recommendations for providing a new system of rewarding Navy and Marine Corps officers and men for exceptional meritorious service in war and peace. The bill to carry out Secretary Long's recommendations provides that instead of advancing officers for distinguished service, the present system, officers and men shall be rewarded by the bestowal on them of honor medals, courage medals, and service medals, the recipients of honor medals to have increased pay.
